

John Di Domenico's Many Characters

John's specialty is his ability to bring his memorable cast of hilarious characters to an event and seamlessly deliver content-driven comedy that engages, entertains and reinforces the message of the meeting. Whether he's live onstage in the general session, live via broadcast to breakout rooms or prerecorded on video, John's performance is informative, relevant and very funny.

Di Domenico works in a wide variety of situations, from concept to performance, providing creative solutions in collaboration with production companies and their end clients. John's strengths are his flexibility and skill at interacting directly with the client, uncovering key information, and then developing and writing creative material within the parameters of the specific production.
