

JOHN DI DOMENICO BIO

JOHN DI DOMENICO, has been a professional actor, writer and corporate performer for the last twenty years. Originally from Ambler, Pennsylvania John attended East Stroudsburg University and graduated from Temple University with a BA in Speech Communications.

John's specialty is seamlessly integrating his celebrity and original characters into any meeting element by writing content driven comedy that delivers and amplifies the key messages of the meeting. John has written and performed at National and International Sales Meetings, Product Launches and Trade Shows for: AT&T, SC Johnson, KPMG, Merle Lynch, GE Health Care, Embassy Suites, MAACO, Panasonic, The Goddard Schools, Focus Communications, Carlisle Syntec and Unilever. Pharmaceutical clients include Aventis ES, Tibotec Therapeutics, BMS Neuro Science, Pfizer HHEIT and Ortho-McNeil.

For the Novartis Ophthalmics Meeting John scripted and performed his multiple celebrity characters including Donald Trump, Austin Powers, Regis Phelbin, Ozzy Osbourne and Larry King just to name a few.

Di Domenico started his professional performing career in Philadelphia while maintaining copywriting positions with Philadelphia advertising agencies. His gift for comedy got him noticed by SKITZOID Comedy Troupe. Within a short period of time John was performing and touring nationally with the company eventually becoming the head writer and artistic director. For a one-year period John performed at Atlantic City's Tropicana Hotel Casino where he had the opportunity to develop his stable of celebrity and original characters.

While living in New York John became a member of "Some Assembly Required", one of the city's finest improvisation companies. SAR gave John the opportunity to hone his improvisational abilities. John's stand up act had him performing in comedy clubs all over the east coast including Caroline's and Catch A Rising Star.

John has appeared in numerous commercials for VISA, Miller Beer, Olive Garden, Bud Light, Bradlees, Value-Rent-a-Car, Comcast to name a few.

John finds satisfaction in creating, writing and performing for franchise and corporate audiences around the country.
