

Gina Schreck, CSP

Gina is the president & co-founder of Synapse 3Di, a technology education company, helping organizations use today's technology for learning, building business and managing corporate and personal brands. Synapse 3Di can even build a global learning campus for you in Second Life.

In the learning and development industry for over 20 years, Gina brings her experiences with adult learning and immersive work environments to help organizations create spaces that not only support learning, but that accelerate the learning transfer process and increase retention—ultimately increasing the return on your training dollars.

Graduating from San Jose State with a degree in psychology, Gina is fascinated with human behavior and adult learning. She is always exploring ways we can create more engaging environments for people to gather and share knowledge both formally and informally.

Since 1995, Synapse has helped companies such as IBM, Sun Microsystems, American Express, Pinnacol Assurance, US Govt. Agencies and many Associations, in using technology to create better learning environments, whether through video learning-bytes, custom podcast library development, or designing and creating immersive spaces for learning and collaboration to take place.
