

We welcome Stuart today all the way from his home in Sydney, Australia and it is a great privilege given his experience working with business owners, much like every person in this room.

A little bit of history as to how we came to engage with Stuart. We were looking for someone who truly understands the drivers of what it takes to succeed in business and someone who had the capability to cut through the jargon and make the numbers real.

Stuart is this person. His knowledge and experience has been hard earned. As a former banking executive working with one of the major Australian banks Stuart has a long history of dealing directly with business owners, big and small. He has witnessed some wonderful entrepreneurs fail when failure was very avoidable and equally has had first hand experience with many spectacular success stories.

The 'calling' for Stuart was to educate business owners, but in a way that was engaging and had people observing him and constantly asking themselves 'how can I apply this to my world?'

As a result Stuart has conducted scores of workshops and seminars in multiple countries, working with franchise groups, industry associations, professionals and small to medium enterprises. He is committed to making sure in every session people understand the power of the numbers and what is required to drive profitability, growth and sustainability. His focus is always on the future as he seeks to inspire people to the possibility of greater success.

Beyond work, he is a family man that loves to travel, and has a passion for surfing and exploring remote getaways.

Once again, welcome Stuart
