

Rory Vaden Program

How to Multiply Time

What if you could literally make more time? It is actually possible once you understand the significance calculation and the new paradigm of ultra performers. Based on Rory Vaden's Ted talk with over 1 million views, he will show you exactly how the leading minds in the world have figured out ways to create more time meanwhile everyone else is living in a constant state of urgency, busyness, and stress. If time is something you or your team need more, you desperately need to hear this message!

- This program will challenge everything you know to be true about “time-management” as you will learn:
- There is no such thing as “time-management” there is only “self-management.”
- Why productivity in the next generation is much more about emotion than logic
- How to move beyond urgency and importance to significance
- Why “priorities” are a limiting paradigm relating to your time
- If you are a “Gunslinger” or a “Worry Wart” and why rich people never pay their taxes early
- When is the right time for patience and when is the right time for action
- 5 permissions to go from being a “Firefighter” to a “Seed-Planter”
- How to finally be stress-free from the never ending pile of work